The Advance in Prices.

The advance in prices which has taken place in the past five weeks is decidedly significant. Almost every important commodity is higher than it was at the close of February. Wheat, corn, cotton, pig iron, pork and petroleum have gone up in this period. So, too, have the shares of the leading roads. Prices of some of these articles and stocks are higher now than they were before in twelve months. Silver has advanced faster and farther than almost any other thing dealt in on the speculative exchanges. A few articles have either remained stationary in price or have fallen slightly, but the general drift is strongly in the upward direction, and promises to continue.

This is one of the indications of a renewal of financial confidence and of an improvement in trade. The advance in price is due to the increased demand, which itself is caused by the general opinion that all the adverse factors have been removed or have virtually spent their force. Sentiment counts for much in finance and business, as it does in most other matters. When a large element of the people begin to be convinced that trade is about to improve, the day of improvement is close at hand. It is evident that the people in general are in this hopeful mood. They can give good reasons, too, for the faith that is in them. All the conditions which produced the panic have vanished. The silver law of 1890 has been dead a year and a half, the inflations in values have disappeared, and the business carelessness due to the long period of prosperity has been cured by the adversity which followed.

Probably financial history is going to repeat itself. In 1878 an advance in prices, very much like that which has just started, set in. The panic of 1873 had spent its force, and the resumption of specie payments, suspended since the beginning of 1862, was to take place on January 1, 1879. Hope, which had been banished for several years, again made its appearance. There was a general opinion in the spring of 1878 that the financial clouds had at last been dispersed, and that the sunshine of prosperity was about to dawn. That impression was strikingly verified by the event. The wheels of industry, long clogged or impeded, began in the summer to move freely; before the year ended the panic was only a reminiscence, and 1879 and 1880 brought the greatest activity and prosperity which the country had known in twenty years. All the signs in the financial sky point to the advent at an early day of an era of business activity and good fortune rivaling the most prosperous periods of the past.—Globe-Democrat.

SALOON RISKS.

How the Nicholson Bill Affects Them in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 4.—Insurance agents in various parts of this State are receiving instructions from their companies to cancel risks on saloons, and outside of this city a number of policies have been cancelled. As yet no policies in this city have been cancelled. The reason of this action is the passage of the Nicholson bill by the last Legislature. Representatives of the insurance companies say there is a class of saloon men who will be forced out of business by the Nicholson law, and that this class is one that would be glad of an opportunity to sell out to an insurance company. The question of cancelling saloon risks in this city will be brought before the insurance compact at its next meeting.

POLITICS IN A CHURCH.

The Kind of Trouble That President Cleveland's Brother is In.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., April 4.—The difference of opinion between members of the Presbyterian Church at Cham-mont, this county, as to the retention of Rev. William N. Cleveland as a pastor, took on a new form when a meeting was held of those who are in favor of making a change in the pastorage. It is asserted that the meeting took such formal action as to indicate its desire that pastor Cleveland should resign. The importance of the matter is enhanced by the fact that the pastor is a brother of President Cleveland, and is said to be a man of positive political opinions, with Democratic proclivities, though he has not been generally known as an offensive partisan. There are two factions in the church, one insisting on his continuance as their spiritual leader, and the other firmly opposed. It happens that these who think the church would prosper under a new pastorage are Republicans, and so a political caste is given to the affair, although Mr. Cleveland's opponents disclaim that as a motive.

ELECTRIC AND STEAM POWER.

Estimates of Cost Based on Charges at Niagara Falls.

Some time ago we remarked, with regard to the predictions that the use of Niagara Falls to develop electric power would effect a revolutionary displacement of steam, that such result would depend on the charges made by the power company. Recent publications concerning these charges give decided cogency to the remark.

The charge fixed by the Niagara Falls Power Company to consumers on the spot is $20 per horse-power per annum. To consumers at Buffalo, or points further distant is $18 per horse-power at the generator shaft, the customer to bear the loss in transmission and conversion, and to furnish the wire or conduit for conveying the power to the point of consumption. This is likely to make the cost of power for plants outside the immediate vicinity of the Falls anywhere from $30 up. In this connection there is quite a hot discussion as to the cost of generating steam power in Buffalo, one authority putting it as low as $21 per horse-power, while the power company's estimates put it at $32 for ten hours, and $45 to $60 for twenty-four hours.

These figures indicate that, so far as Pittsburg is concerned, it is not likely to be disturbed by the Niagara Falls competition. With our cheap fuel and with first-class appliances, the cost of steam power in this city can be made $15 per horse-power in actual practice. This is on the basis of automatic stokers and engines. Of course, there are many plants in which these figures are not realized, but they represent what can be done with attention to the best methods in competition with the introduction of a new power. If the cost power at Niagara should be reduced, this estimate would permit further reductions by the use of compound condensing engines.

Pittsburg need not fear the Niagara Falls competition, therefore, so far as the cost of power here is concerned. As to the market for coal away from here, it may be a different matter so long as railway rates make it necessary to produce two tons of coal to get one ton to the lake shore. But if Pittsburg opens up waterways that will carry coal 1000 miles at 60 per cent of its cost at the mines, that will present a cheapness of transmission not likely to be rivaled by any means of transmitting electrical power.

To keep in the front as against the Niagara factor, it is Pittsburg's duty to adopt the best ideas in the line of smoke consumption and fuel saving at home, and to secure the water transportation which will place it above competition in sending its coal to other markets.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Bold Burglars.

Saturday night burglars broke into the hardware store of Edward S. Lilly. They broke in through a back window, the shutters of which were pried open with an iron bar or chisel. They took three revolvers from a show case, two or three boxes of shells, and from the cash drawer they got fifty cents in silver that was left in the drawer for change. The electric lights were burning in the store and had the night watchman passed along he could have discovered the robber or robbers, but he was not around at the hour the burglary was committed.

The City Election.

The city election which took place Tuesday did not result as was expected. The Republicans have a majority in the city of more than two to one and they should have elected their ticket from bottom to top, but they did not do it. Of the seven candidates on the ticket they elected only four. There was too much scratching done by Republican voters. This was the first city election in the history of the city in which party lines were attempted to be drawn, and the voters could not get out of the old rut of voting for Tom, Dick and Harry. It was friendship and favoritism—not politics, that elected the three Democrats who were elected. The head of the Republican ticket was defeated because he earned nothing for the office and made no effort to be elected. He said when he was nominated that he was not seeking the office—would do no work to secure his election. He was in the hands of his friends and if he had been elected he would have accepted the office and served his people well and honorably.

But he was defeated and while his party regrets that the election went that way we are free to say that Mr. Klostermann will live much happier for the next two years as a private citizen than he would had he been elected to the office of Mayor.

The Republicans made an honest fight for the election of their ticket. They had to contend with men of strange political views. They had to fight the hoodlum element whose pockets were filled with boodle. They had to stand off traitors to their party. It was a new idea—a new deal in city elections in this city and there was lots to be learned.

This little failure will not deter the Republicans from performing their duty in the future. Cape Girardeau is a Republican city and the Republicans will never rest until it declares for Republicanism and progress.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctors being unable to help her, I induced her to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle, she was cured, so that now she is quite strong and healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life, I have not the least doubt."—K. MORRIS, Memphis, Tenn.
